

WILLOW CANYON 1ST WARD

SEPTEMBER 2010 LOVE AT HOME

Love At Home

"Are you morally clean?" What nerve my father had in asking me that question. I don't know who was more uncomfortable, him asking the question, or me entertaining the answer. As I look back on that question and many others that were asked of me during father interviews I can appreciate the time, the effort, and the diligence to ask the hard questions. It is so much easier to just assume that your child is doing fine and justify not addressing the tough issues of the day with them in an interview setting.

I may not have felt any "joy in the cottage" when my father was asking me tough questions during father interviews but in a somewhat remote part of my brain I knew that I was loved at home because my parents showed that they cared through those interviews along with family prayer, Family Home Evening, and dinner around the table every day. Bliss complete? I'm not sure, but we still had love at home.

Elder Bednar gave a talk last October conference titled "More Diligent and Concerned At Home". It would be a great talk for parents and grandparents to review. In it he gives 3 suggestions and they are -

Suggestion Number One: Express Love—and Show It

Suggestion Number Two: Bear Testimony—and Live It

Suggestion Number Three: Be Consistent

Elder Bednar made an interesting observation under the "be consistent" suggestion:

"Today if you could ask our adult sons what they remember about family prayer, scripture study, and family home evening, I believe I know how they would answer. They likely would not identify a particular prayer or a specific instance of scripture study or an especially meaningful family home evening lesson as the defining moment in their spiritual development. What they would say they remember is that as a family we were consistent."

I look forward to the thoughts that will be shared this month in sacrament meeting on the topic of "Love At Home". I know that as we are consistently trying to do what the Lord asks of us through his prophets in our homes we will be drawing upon the Powers of Heaven to assist us in building strong and loving homes. Who knows, maybe even some roses will bloom beneath your feet.

Love,

Your Bishopric

MUSIC

Is "Love at Home" one of your favorite hymns? It has such a sweet melody and tender words. Maybe we should sing it every day in our homes with our family. This song really fills our souls with heavenly thoughts and brings us the spirit of peace. It is the perfect example of this month's Sacrament meeting's theme.

EMPTY NESTERS will be meeting this month at Bob and Andrea Marx Home on Sept. 13th at 7:00pm.

We are studying "Jesus the Christ"

Come and join us.

We are so sad to hear that John and Vickie Davis will be moving from the ward.

They have been such a strong presence in the bishopric and neighborhood (20 years) We wish them well in their new home in Draper and hope they will be very happy there with their extended family. We will miss them greatly.

FAMILY HISTORY

The Buttercup Family Center will be starting classes again after the summer break. *On Mondays (noon—2pm) Barbara Madsen & Raya Jones will hold workshops on PAF and Family Insight.

These programs synchronize PAF and New Family Search. * On Wednesdays (9:30—11:30am.) Linda Tischler (801-571-6177) will be teaching New Family Search * On Thursday (6:30—8:30) Diana Olsen (801-561-8804) will teach New Family Search and other programs that help you do and organize your Family History Work.

Call the teachers for the Wednesday and Thursday classes if you are interested. See the bulletin board outside the Relief Society Room for more details and a list of the Center hours.

If you are interested in attending the Family history course during Sunday School, contact the High Priest group Leader, Nelson Leshner. New classes will begin in October.

The Scott's would also be willing to come to your home to help you with New Family Search

ACTIVITIES COMMITTEE

Mark your calendars for a Stake Road Show on November 6th at 6:00p.m.
